ADIA Leaders Forum 2024 NEW SESSION:		FUTURE LEADERS Wednesday 6 March
DAY 1	FUTURE LEADERS PROGRAM
WEDNESDAY	6 MARCH 2024	THE OVOLO HOTEL 6 Cowper Wharf Rd, Woolloomooloo
12:00pm	Future Leaders program Registration opens	Cross and Paddo rooms
12:30 - 1:00pm	Networking Lunch	Buffet lunch served
1:00pm	Welcome Address Katie Ferro	Chair Leaders Forum Committee
1:00 - 1:45pm Marketing and Strategy	Lucy Davison Founder and Managing Director Keen as Mustard Marketing	Salience and Staying Power Researchers face an uphill battle. Decades of data have proven that companies which listen to customers and markets have the greatest chance of success. But to build a customer focused organisation means going beyond projects, influencing broad groups of stakeholders over time. To achieve this, researchers must be more than good storytellers or compelling presenters. They must be culture and community builders, creating the fabric and rituals that drive informed decisions, even when they aren't in the room. Lucy shares guidance from global clients at Haleon, DeBeers and Pearson as to how they are building customer-centric cultures and will include powerful examples of insights communications from Sanofi, Coca-Cola and Southwest Airlines that have created salience and staying power.

Program is subject to late change

1:45 - 2:30pm Workplace Relations/Legal	Andrew Maher Partner CIE Legal and ADIA Legal	Preparing to Lead - the do's and don'ts of managing people. Andrew Maher presents a topical, practical and fundamental industry perspective on Workplace Relations/HR Law and privacy. Andrew will cover how young leaders can minimise organisational risk by developing sound professional relationships in a safe workplace environment. This session includes a Q&A.
2:30 - 3:15pm Health & Wellness	Thea O'Connor Wellbeing and Productivity Advisor, Speaker, Coach	Body Intelligence You've heard of IQ, EQ and possibly SQ (spiritual intelligence). Underpinning all those intelligences is body intelligence (BQ). The body is the fundamental foundation of our lives and when health suffers, every aspect of our life is affected. Body intelligence involves the ability to connect with our body's sensations or cues, listen to them and respond in a way that enhances our overall function and quality of life. With Thea you will learn the skills of body intelligence so you can work in tune with the body's internal operating system, which results in more energy, a sharper brain and better mood.
3:15 - 3:45pm	Afternoon tea	Ovolo Hotel
3:45 - 4:45pm Leadership	Kammeron Cran Founder and MD, The Team Space	Leading through complexity and intellectual humility. Kammeron's trademark is her capacity to enable leaders and teams to make significant shifts in their work, directly impacting performance, engagement, and well-being outcomes. Emerging leaders can look forward to hearing from Kamm on developing a mindset to lean into problem-solving rather than be derailed by complexity and building exceptional team, client, and stakeholder relationships.
4:30pm	Sarah Campbell CEO, ADIA	Industry update from ADIA.
5:00 – 6.30pm	LEADERS FORUM WELCOME DRINKS Kindly sponsored by Forsta	The Tilbury Hotel 12 Nicholson Street, Woolloomooloo
